

Leukoreduced Frozen Platelet Concentrate References

(800) 243-5759
www.ABRINT.net

1. Allyson, K., A. Abrams-Ogg, et al. (1997). Room Temperature Storage and Cryopreservation of Canine Platelet Concentrates. American Journal of Veterinary Research 58 (11): 1338-1347.
2. Alvarez, L. and J. Stokes (2011). Retrospective Study of the Safety and Efficacy of Cryopreserved Platelet Concentrate in 26 Dogs. 2011 ACVIM Forum, Denver, CO.
3. Appleman, E. H., B. S. Sachais, et al. (2009). Cryopreservation of Canine Platelets. Journal of Veterinary Internal Medicine 23: 138-145.
4. Aumann, M. (2011). Approach to Hemorrhagic Emergencies. 17th International Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care Symposium, Nashville, TN.
5. Callan, M. B., E. H. Appleman, et al. (2009). Canine Platelet Transfusions. Journal of Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care 19 (5): 401-415.
6. Davidow, E. (2010). Platelet Transfusions: Indications and New Products. 2010 ACVIM Forum Anaheim, CA.
7. Guillaumin, J., K. Jandrey, et al. (2008). Assessment of a Dimethyl sulfoxide-stabilized Frozen Platelet Concentrate. American Journal of Veterinary Research 69 (12): 1580-1586.
8. Hoareau, G., K. Jandrey, et al. (2011). Comparisons of Two Methods of Preparation on Platelet Concentrates. 17th International Veterinary and Emergency and Critical Care Symposium, Nashville, TN.
9. Jandrey, K. (2010). Platelet Rich Plasma. 16th International Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care Symposium, San Antonio, TX.
10. Jandrey, K. (2011). Platelets: Frozen, Fresh, Concentrated? 17th International Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care Symposium, Nashville, TN.
11. Rozanski, E. (2009). Platelet-Rich Plasma: It's More Than You Think. 15th International Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care Symposium, Chicago, IL.